ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

I am grateful to be blessed with good health and well-being by God that are essential to accomplish various tasks in this thesis.

First and foremost, I would like to express my sincere gratitude to my Supervisor, Madam Nurud Suria Binti Suhaimi who has provided encouragement, directions and ideas for me in preparing the content of this thesis. The tasks can only be completed with valuable guidance given by Madam Nurud through sharing experiences and opinions for improving the process of constructing research proposal that lead to the formation of a complete thesis.

My sincere thanks also go to my family and friends for their supports and encouragement along the tough journey in preparing this thesis. Attention, care and love from my parent, siblings and friends have given me strength to overcome various obstacles at this intense and hectic period.

Many thanks to all residents for their willingness and co-operations to become volunteer respondents that provide data by answering the distributed questionnaires which play an important role in producing the results of this study that can benefit the future approach.

I also place on record, my sense of thankfulness to one and all, who directly or indirectly have lent their hands in this venture.
